The 1961

Chowanoka

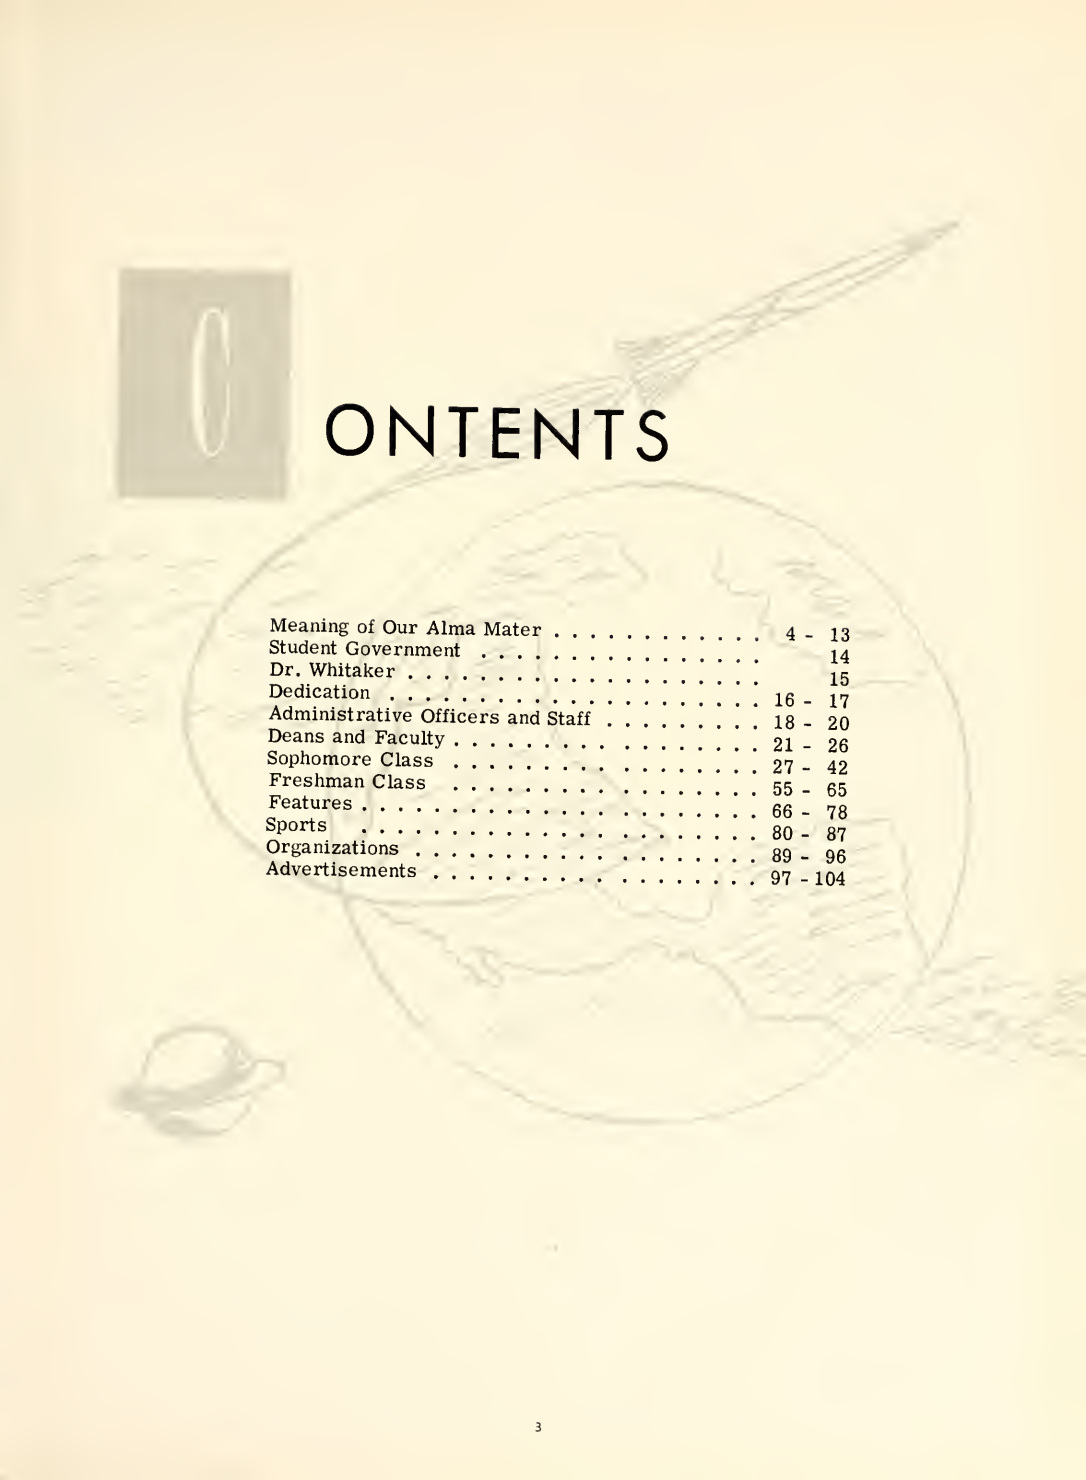

CHOWAN COLLEGE
MURFREESBORO, NORTH CAROLINA

ORWARD

In years ahead, may we look through the telescope into outer space and recapture memories of our studies, victories, defeats, joys, and sorrows. These many memories which we share will always be ours alone. Now as we fire the rocket into space, we shall recall this passing year at Chowan College.

edication

"Not an easy teacher, but an excellent one . . . takes a friendly interest in all his students . . . a good guy and a good sport . . . a real scholar . . . versatile . . . different . . . efficient . . ." This is how students describe the head of our Science Department. For five years he has been at Chowan College, and both the college and the community have benefited greatly from his work. A better Christian friend and teacher would be hard to find. In the classroom the students, whom he calls his "children," are amused as well as informed by his dry wit and interesting lectures.

Because we like, admire, and respect him so much, we, his "children," gratefully dedicate the 1961 Chowanoka to

How do you feel?

A Visit By The Brown Lady

Each autumn the "Brown Lady" pays a frightening visit to the Chowan campus. According to legend, she is the ghost of a former student who searches constantly for her lost lover. Announced by an unearthly scream in the girls' dormitories, she drags her victims out of bed for a cold, pre-dawn walk. Each girl is blindfolded and introduced personally to the Brown Lady by feeling her eyes, teeth, ears, liver, and blood. Then, after seeing the dear old Lady lying in her casket, who wouldn't believe that she is real?

Wrong Step!

The line up.

Smile at the Brown Lady!

Brown Lady

Lost!

Feels like eggs!

Don't be afraid!

Why so sad?

Best Dressed ?

Look at Me!

What Short Dresses!

Rat Day

On Rat Day each year, the law-abiding sophomores, eager to see that the freshmen conform to tradition, keep "rats" busy rendering various services. Poor unfortunate rats who fail to dress and act according to requirements have only themselves to blame if they wind up in the dreaded Rat Court, where vigilant sophomores see that justice is done.

Not in my hair!

I can, can you Can Can ?

Look Ma, No Hands!

It's really comfortable!
